REPORT OF THE LIBRARY FOR 1919.

In choosing books for children, these rules, recently laid down by an author of books for boys, are worth the consideration of parents:

* “Read your children’s books yourself. Or better still, get your boy or girl to read them aloud to you. Ask yourself during the reading: ‘Does this book lay stress on villainy, deception or treachery?’

‘Are all the incidents wholesome, probable and true to life?’

‘Does it show young people contemptuous toward their elders and successfully opposing them?’

‘Do the young characters in the book show respect for teachers and others in authority?’

‘Are these characters the kind of young people you wish your children to associate with?’

‘Does the book speak of and describe pranks, practical jokes and pieces of thoughtless and cruel mischief as though they were funny and worthy of imitation?’

‘Is the English good and is the story written in good style?’ ”

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

February 6, 1920.

To the School Board and Citizens:

This year's experience with supervision must be somewhat disappointing to those school districts which have been under supervision before. The last legislature, when it enacted into law the bill providing for such radical changes in our system of education, placed a heavy burden upon every school officer.

The state board has been obliged to make many new rules for the conduct of so large an enterprise and has been asking for a great amount of information about school conditions needed for the intelligent discharge of their heavy responsibilities.

School boards have grappled with changed accounting systems, new and more frequent reports to the state department of education, the application of the new laws to their financial and educational problems.

To the superintendent has come many details inseparably connected with readjustment to the new system. In this supervisory union there are three towns new to him—one which has never had a superintendent before; one which has had none in recent years; and one transferred from the Pittsfield Union. There are twenty teachers outside of Penacook, and only one of these has ever worked under me before.

I keenly regret that during the first half year it has not been possible for me to be in the schoolrooms more and to come into closer touch with parents, teachers and children. If I can hope that there have been some results from this first six months of work they will be shown not this year but in the years that are to come. Now that the beginning has been made I trust that during the remainder of this year, and more especially during the coming year, my time may be devoted less to machinery and more to the real work of the superintendent as supervisor of schools.

Books, maps and supplies are the teachers' tools. When we hire a carpenter we complain, with reason, if he does not bring good tools, well-sharpened, that he may use his time to the best advantage. When we hire a teacher we furnish the tools, and because the money is coming from our own pocket we sometimes believe that it is economy to cut the appropriation for books and supplies; but a moment's consideration should correct this impression. The cost of a liberal supply of books is a very small part of the entire cost of running schools. The \$150 appropriated by you last year for text-books and supplies was about $3\frac{1}{2}\%$ of the entire amount called for by the school board, which is in the same proportion as allowing a carpenter at \$5 a day, $17\frac{1}{2}$ cents a day for replacing wornout tools, or increasing his supply. I believe that the welfare of the schools requires that this amount (\$150) be raised and expended each year for this purpose. During the past few months I have purchased some new material, largely reading and history. The teachers I feel sure, appreciate the help which this has brought them.

Canterbury has felt this year the shortage of teachers which is nation-wide. There is every indication that next year this difficulty will be increased rather than lessened. The only hope of securing good teachers for our schools next year is to decide early what we can afford to pay—decide to pay more than we think we can afford—and then to attempt to hire teachers for next year at once. It is useless to talk about the salaries paid fifty years ago or yesterday. The teachers of the entire country feel that they have long been underpaid. They are leaving the profession by hundreds and thousands. Nothing but greatly increased salaries will stem the tide. Rural schools were affected first and they will continue to be hit hardest. If every school in Canterbury has a satisfactory teacher next year it will be brought about only because every one concerned—taxpayers, voters, the homes where teachers board, the school board, and the superintendent, have done their very best.

The state board is directing the improvement of the health of the children along three lines. First, more hygienic buildings; second, exercises for physical improvement; third, physical examination of children at least once a year.

During the next few years it will be necessary to improve to a large degree the toilets and the lighting. A set of exercises for school children is being prepared and will soon be in the hands of the teachers. The Canterbury School Board has appointed a school physician who has examined the children and made some recommendations to parents.

It is easy in times like the present to become discouraged, to discover currents in this heterogeneous mass which makes up the citizenship of our country which may spell disaster in the immediate future. But you and I are not ready to admit that the United States of America cannot find the wisdom, and the strength, and the courage to cope successfully with its tremendous and dangerous problems. And if in the providence of God, through fearless and intelligent leadership, we shall weather the storm for the next few years, it will still be true, as it always has been, that our more distant future, twenty—forty—sixty years from now, is in the hands of the homes, and the churches, and the schools of today; and so long as anybody, anywhere, believes that there is anything worth doing in this world of ours, it will be worth while to give our time, our energy, and our money—to the point of sacrifice if necessary for the training of the generation which will take our place in a few years, will make its contribution to the common good, and will pass on to future generations what they have received from the past through us.

It has been a relief to me to know that the school board realizes that this first year of reorganization has been a somewhat difficult one for me as it has been for the board. Allow me to express my appreciation of the helpful attitude of the teachers and of those citizens with whom I have come in contact.

Respectfully submitted,
GEORGE W. SUMNER.
